

Dream x Destiny

- A bridge between founders & investors.
- Submit your product for public funding.
- You own the startup – Not the burden.

Google for Startups | Cloud Program

Dream x Destiny Inc. • Delaware C-Corporation • Berlin Based

First-round funding is broken on both sides.

- Founders with a good idea – and even the skills – usually cannot fund and push a startup themselves. Networks decide who gets to try.
- Pre-seed investing is often closed to the public. When rounds open at all, high minimums buy tiny slices.
- The classic playbook – raise millions, hire a team, founder runs everything – assumes products take years to build. That world is gone.

Startups got fast. Funding didn't.

AI

Products are built in days by small teams and AI. The cost of trying has collapsed.

Reg CF

Regulation Crowdfunding made public early-stage investing legal - the retail rail exists, from $1 up.

Remote work

Global talent pools replace fixed headcount - operations no longer need an office or a full-time team.

AI created a new asset class - micro-startups. Millions of them will exist, and nobody built the infrastructure for them. Ten years ago this company couldn't exist. Today it can.

Micro startups. Micro runways. Micro investments. Micro exits.

AI collapsed the cost of building a company – a real product now ships in days, not years. That creates micro startups: lean companies that need micro runways – a year of focused capital, not millions. Micro runways open the door to micro investments – the public participating from a single dollar, not accredited-only tickets. And micro investments deserve micro exits – capital returning at profit checkpoints and second-round tenders, not locked away for a decade waiting on an IPO. The whole chain is one design: smaller, faster, fairer – and repeatable at scale. Dream x Destiny is the infrastructure built for exactly this era.

Build – The Adventure

Review – the quality gate

Fund – the syndicate

Operate – Dream x Destiny

- The Adventure – an agentic AI team (Claude, Gemini, Grok, monday.com) turns an idea into a real, deployed product + business plan + brand + marketing strategy.
- The syndicate – a public first round: non-binding offers from $1, no credit card. Enough offers → one week to confirm. Completed via Wefunder, which carries the regulation.
- The operating layer – after the round, Dream x Destiny keeps the startup's momentum and growth going. Nobody depends on one person: a combination of team leaders, humans in the loop, AI agentic teams and the founder, if the founder chooses to be involved in the operational layer.
- The quality gate – integrity, uniqueness and profitability checks before any venture reaches the syndicate. Lower investor risk, higher success odds.

Founders aren't giving up equity – they're buying speed and leverage: a built product, execution support, public distribution, and majority ownership.

Lumi - the memory that runs through the ecosystem.

- Inside each venture – Lumi is its memory and guardian: the founder's vision, every decision, full context across the agents – and drift detection against the original vision. Founders never re-explain their company.
- Across the ecosystem – every venture's Lumi learns locally; the ecosystem Lumi learns globally: build patterns, marketing performance, costs, precedent. Each startup makes the next one smarter.
- Model-agnostic – orchestrating whichever model is best while preserving venture identity and knowledge.

Every venture has its own Lumi. Every Lumi learns locally. The ecosystem Lumi learns globally. The models are implementation details – Lumi is the asset, impossible to download from a foundation model.

Claude is working now on:

- Writing the code.
- Testing the software.
- Debugging.

The buildup also depends on agents capacity, it might take up to 40 minutes. You can always resume the adventure from your Personal Zone later.

The Adventure - Agentic AI monday (The Drift Catcher) – works individually on each floor with another agent, acting as its gatekeeper by using the green-light system.

Gemini (Product Manager) – analyzes the market, and tries to find another moat.

Grok (Marketing and vibe) – creates the road for success on X, branding, and the hardware blueprint.

Claude (Code Master) – creates the software, ready for an API integration.

Efficiency advantage

Ventures built with the Adventure system are created with token efficiency – a local Claude Code bridge builds in real time on subscription capacity instead of metered API calls – allowing an attractive price tag to create MVPs & post-audits to reach a satisfying result.

Syndicate - Public first-round funding

Live Funding Rounds

Ripple

And every 60 minutes, one venture takes the Spotlight – broadcast live on X under #DreamxDestiny.

How a round works

- 1 · Runway sum set – enough for one year, by human + AI from fixed parameters.
No valuation in the first round.
- 2 · Round opens – non-binding offers from $1.
- 3 · Confirm – once enough offers are made, investors have seven days to decide if they are in. Completion via Wefunder (Reg CF). If offers exceed 100%, commitments scale back pro-rata – investors pay less, equity adjusts accordingly.
- 4 · Incorporate – new Delaware C-Corp via Stripe Atlas. 10,000,000 shares issued.

What the founder receives

A built company, a public funding round, an operating team, ongoing support – and the majority of the equity.

Founder 70% – majority ownership

Syndicate 30% – first-round public investment

Dream x Destiny's 10% success equity transfers only after the first ROI checkpoint – from the founder's shares (next slide).

From a successful first round to ventures management.

- 5% of the funding round.
- 10% success equity in every incorporated startup – transfers after the first return of investment to shareholders & founder.
- $5,500 / month (billed annually) – operating fee per funded startup (included in the funding sum). Covers the full operating layer: infrastructure, AI compute, project management and back office.
- Code purchases – for creating a product through The Adventure.

THE CONTRARIAN BET

In first-round funding we set a runway sum, not a valuation.

Public investors don't invest in a paper number – they invest because they believe the product can be profitable. Valuation enters at round 2, with professionals, at stepped-up terms. Keeping the first round to a runway sum is what makes it simple, fast, and honest.

Every revenue and expense is transparent to shareholders in real time. At every profit checkpoint – each additional 3x the funding sum in cumulative profit – the company returns the funding sum to shareholders as a cash distribution, and keeps scaling on retained capital and future revenue.

Win - win - win.

Investors

30% to the public - a far larger share-to-investment ratio than traditional rounds. Fast momentum to close, without the startup raising millions.

Founders

Receive a built company, a public round, and an operating team - and keep 70% + 5% cash of the runway sum. The traditional path - pre-seed, seed, Series A, option pool - leaves most founders under 50%, having done everything themselves.

Dream x Destiny

10% success equity - transfers only after the first return of investment to shareholders. Until then, cash fees (5% of the round + $5,500/month) are the full compensation for operating the venture.

Designed for round two from day one.

- A 10% future-financing reserve – set aside from the founder's 70% at incorporation.
- Dream x Destiny applies on behalf of the startup – preparing and running the second, professional round as part of the operating layer.
- The syndicate is never diluted – second-round investors buy from the reserve, so the public's 30% stays 30%.
- Valuation enters here – negotiated with professionals at stepped-up terms, once the venture has profit history.
- The micro exit – up to 10% of every second round buys shares from first-round investors at the round price. For every $1M raised, up to $100,000 of liquidity reaches early shareholders – optional per investor: sell a slice, or hold.
- The exit – if a venture is ever acquired (100% bought), the sale proceeds are distributed to all shareholders pro-rata

One Talent Pool. One pool of tasks.

- No fixed headcount per venture. Tasks – AI review, development with Claude, new agents, supplier & customer comms, QA – route to freelancers from the Talent Pool at $23/hour. Capacity scales with each startup.
- Agentic management – project breakdown, routing and automation run on agents; the monday.com ecosystem is the integration target. Dream x Destiny does quality control.

Own the startup. Not the burden.

The founder

Chooses their level of involvement - never has to manage the company. Feedback, pivots, QA, team proposals - every meaningful channel stays open.

Decisions

Made by dialogue; where founder and Dream x Destiny disagree, shareholders vote. No single person can stall momentum - which is exactly what protects investors.

The founder picks one of four involvement levels - and can change it:

- CEO - manage the startup: make decisions, complete tasks, give feedback. Salary based.
- Team Leader - make decisions, complete tasks, give feedback. Salary based.
- Human In The Loop - complete tasks, give feedback. Salary based.
- Brainstormer - give feedback. Voluntary basis.

The loop nobody closes.

	BUILD	FUND	OPERATE
Lovable · Replit · Bolt	✓	—	—
Wefunder · Republic · StartEngine	—	✓	—
Venture studios	internal only	internal only	internal only
Dream x Destiny	✓	✓	✓

End to end, in one place. And every venture built feeds the playbooks – the ecosystem gets sharper with each round.

The advantage compounds.

Every venture built adds to the ecosystem:

- Operating data – what real runways, tasks and costs look like.
- Customer and marketing patterns – which launches convert, channel by channel.
- Development playbooks – reusable build, audit and deploy pipelines.
- Talent relationships – a vetted pool that has shipped before.

Each company makes the next one cheaper and faster. The first companies aren't just products – they're training data for the venture creation engine. That is the moat – and it is not copyable from the outside.

The ecosystem is the moat. Trust is built into the incentives.

One continuous loop

AI builders, crowdfunding portals and venture studios each exist alone. Dream x Destiny combines build, fund and operate into one ecosystem. Copying a feature is easy – copying the whole loop and its incentive structure is not.

Everyone is paid in order

The public funds a runway, not a valuation. Investors get their capital back first, at profit checkpoints. Dream x Destiny earns its equity last. The founder holds the majority throughout. Trust is the architecture – not a promise.

Where we are

- Live today – DreamxDestiny.com with 6 ventures open for first-round funding.
- Delaware C-Corp formed (Stripe Atlas) – the same incorporation playbook every funded startup will reuse.
- US Reg CF legal pack drafted – counsel review next; docs formalized at first funding.
- Raising now – accelerator + VC in parallel; a pre-seed SAFE to finalize the platform, wire the Wefunder rail, run the first syndicate rounds and support the first funded ventures.

Humans + agents.

Every good idea deserves a real shot. Every person deserves a way into the earliest room.

- Idea → built in days → funded by the public → Operate by Dream x Destiny + talent pool + AI.
- Founders own the upside, not the burden.
- The ecosystem runs on freedom of choice – founders choose their involvement, investors choose their ownership. Everyone finds their own sweet spot to earn and grow in their own style.
